RUTLEDGE FOUNDATION

Caring and Curing—Young Adult Cancer

Mission Statement

The Rutledge Foundation exists to bring awareness and attention to the over one million young adults diagnosed with cancer. We are also committed to finding less toxic, curative treatments for sarcomas, one of the most aggressive cancers in teens and young adults. The Rutledge Foundation is dedicated to Caring and Curing young adults with cancer.

Since its establishment, the Rutledge Foundation has operated under three main objectives:

- Support research and clinical trials for teen/ young adult sarcomas
- Identify and meet the unique needs of all teen/ young adult cancer patients
- Increase awareness and early detection of all teen/ young adult cancers

Did You Know?

- Young Adults (YAs) are defined as people between the ages of 15 and 39.
- Cancer is the leading cause of death in YAs, increasing over 50% in the last 30 years.
- Approximately 72,000 YAs are diagnosed with cancer every year.
- YAs are 8 times more likely to be diagnosed with cancer than children under 15.
- Cancer survival rates for YAs have not changed in over 30 years.
- Less than 2% of YAs with cancer participate in clinical trials.
- YAs are the most underinsured or uninsured group in the U.S.

2015 RECAP:

- Raised over $400,000 through events, donations and grants, to further research, complete development of new therapies and continue care for teens and young adults with cancer
- Donated $65,000 toward research into less-toxic, more curative treatments for sarcoma cancers
- Co-hosted two teams of cancer researchers from St. Jude and Texas Children's to Fort Worth/Dallas to educate and initiate collaborative efforts between researchers and hospitals
- Opened four new Carley's Closet locations, two in Dallas, one in Fort Worth and two in Houston, totalling nine across Texas
- Started a young professional group, called RFYP, to increase awareness in the young professional age population and to assist with fundraising and volunteering

This publication lists gifts made between January 1, 2015 and December 31, 2015.
The Rutledge Foundation is a 501 (c)(3) public charity, IRS Tax ID 27-5035852.
All donations are tax-deductible as allowed by law.

Letter from the Executive Director

Exactly 4 years ago, I was sitting in my daughter, Carley's hospital room, watching the last few doses of cytotoxic chemotherapy enter her veins. I was overcome with unrest. Her treatment was nearing the end, and even though there was no evidence of disease, her body was weak from 11 months/14 rounds of chemotherapy and 33 rounds of radiation. We could not ignore the reality of her cancer returning, nor the dim reality that there were no curative treatment options available.

Thus began the Rutledge Foundation's quest to fund research in the area of "next generation" therapies for pediatric and young adult sarcomas. In 2011 there were a few, dedicated researchers, who were doing preclinical work with targeted and immune-based therapies for Ewing sarcoma. Since then, we have followed and supported the most promising research. We have played a role in bringing 3 Ewing specific therapies into clinical trials. Two of these drugs are scheduled to open clinical trials this spring, and vaccine therapy is moving toward the next stages of FDA approval. We are truly encouraged by the progress being made.

Looking back on last year's projections, it is amazing to see our goals being realized. In addition to the progress in research, our Carley's Closet programs grew from 5 to 9 hospitals across Texas, with 3 more scheduled to open in 2016. This well received program provides comfort items for teens and young adult cancer patients, as well as access to resources for fertility preservation, emotional and financial needs and support groups.

Our Vision is clear: Eradicate teen and young adult cancer through education, early detection, and less toxic, targeted, life-saving therapies.

We hope you will remain with us until our vision is realized.

Sincerely

Laura Rutledge

Caring

Carley's Closet

Carley's Closet is a resource that serves the unique needs of teen and young adult cancer patients at both children's and adult medical centers. Through community donations and grants, the Rutledge Foundation supplies resources, comfort items and activities during their journey to help them remain active and positive throughout their treatment. Carley's Closet also hosts local events and a support group name EPIC (Empowering Peers In Cancer) through Cancer Care Services.

In 5 short years, the Rutledge Foundation has opened 9 Carley's Closet centers across Texas with 3 more coming in the next year. To date, donations have allowed us to invest over $300,000 in programs and outreach which have brought comfort to countless young adults battling cancer.

In 2015, the Rutledge Foundation was able to:

- Donate $15,000 worth of teen and young adult gifts to St. Jude's Holiday Gift Room.
- Provide 122 backpacks with comfort and care items to newly diagnosed patients.
- Provide 70 Christmas stockings to patients being treated through the holidays.
- Partner with 4 new medical centers: Mary Crowley, Medical City-Dallas, Texas Children's-Houston, and Moncrief Cancer Institute.

Awareness Events

In addition to Carley's Closet, the Rutledge Foundation holds several teen/young adult cancer awareness events throughout the year. The purpose of these events is to support and give hope to teens and young adults battling cancer as well as to inform the public of the unique needs of this growing cancer population.

Young Adult Night at the Ranger Game

Summer brings baseball, and at the Rutledge Foundation, Young Adult Night at the Ranger Game. Thanks to the generosity of Approach Resources, two groups of young adults with cancer were able to enjoy a night in a plush Texas Ranger's suite. The baseball was great, the food was plentiful and the fireworks were a perfect ending to a fun event. This event gives young adult patients hope and community as they share their experiences and a night of baseball.

Rutledge Day at the Rodeo

Along with January weather, came Rutledge Day at the Rodeo. Thanks to the generosity of the Fort Worth Stock Show Syndicate and Modco Insurance, almost 100 young adult patients, their families, friends, medical staff and caregivers were treated to a light breakfast, the Fort Worth Rodeo, a barbecue lunch and a backstage tour of the Stock Show grounds. It was a fantastic day, full of friends and fun! This year, we hope to have as many as 150 participate in the Rutledge Day at the Rodeo.

Coming Home Concert

In its third year, the Rutledge Foundation's Coming Home Concert tripled in attendance at River Ranch in the Stockyards. This year's event was sponsored by a generous donor and 95.9, the Ranch. The Coming Home Concert brought together friends of the foundation for a night of celebration and music, all while supporting a great cause. One guest commented, " This was the perfect reunion and such a great event!"

Curing

Fundraising Events

Each fundraising event held by the Rutledge Foundation has two goals, to raise support for teens and young adults with cancer and to educate the public on our foundation and how we are standing in the gap for this underserved cancer population. In 2015, third party fundraising continued to be a significant contributor to targeted sarcoma research.

Gold Ribbon Games

Gold Ribbon Games was the very first Rutledge Foundation event held five years ago. This annual kickball tournament has grown from a gathering of Carley Rutledge's family and closest friends to a community wide event that draws players and fans from local high schools, colleges, hospitals, businesses and the broader community of Fort Worth/ Dallas. In spite of a cloudy forecast, 22 teams came out to "kick out cancer" and raise awareness and funds for teens and young adults with cancer.

Horned Frogs Boot Out Cancer

In 2015, the Rutledge Foundation partnered with TCU students through three fundraising events. Students were encouraged to give on North Texas Giving Day and bring their parents to a give-back event at Leddy's Ranch during TCUs Parent's Weekend.

Later in the Fall, we were contacted by the TCU Pi Kappa Phi Fraternity wanting to make the Rutledge Foundation the recipient of their pledge class community service hours. Project Elf was the result, where they spent the morning learning about teens and young adults with cancer and the rest of the day serving the Fort Worth community in exchange for donations to the Rutledge Foundation. All in all, it was a great first year partnering with our college friends at TCU.

Hearts of Gold Luncheon

The fifth annual Hearts of Gold Luncheon, Piecing Together a Cure, was held at River Crest Country Club with a capacity crowd. 2015 brought record sponsorships, attendance and donations. The highlights of the event were the inspirational messages by both Dr. Michael Williams, President of UNT Health Science Center and Galen Storey, Cancer Survivor and TCU senior. The entire event served to inform our donors of the significant impact their donations are making in the lives of teens and young adults with cancer and the important part the Rutledge Foundation is playing in bringing together researchers, caregivers, the community and donors in the fight against cancer.

Grants and Research

In the past five years, Rutledge Foundation has supported and funded over $400,000 in research for 3 immune/targeted Ewing sarcoma therapies. The first is a vaccine therapy called Vigil (formally FANG) that is now in Phase II and has reached dozens of patients across the world. The goal is to move this immunotherapy to the frontline of treatment. The second two are targeted therapies, one of which is being developed by Mary Crowley Cancer Research Center with a trial scheduled to open in March.

In 2015, the Rutledge Foundation presented Dr. Andras Lacko, and his team of researchers at UNT Health Science Center, $60,000 to further their research into a non-toxic lipoprotein delivery system that targets and destroys cancer cells. The research includes testing this approach on Ewing sarcoma cell lines in hopes of developing a less toxic method of delivering otherwise toxic treatments. The Rutledge Foundation also approved a $5,000 research grant to Doctor Kevin B. Jones of the Huntsman Cancer Institute to develop a targeted therapy for Alveolar Soft Part Sarcoma.

Collaboration

One of the hallmarks of the Rutledge Foundation is their interest in bringing together medical providers, researchers and funding to expedite changes in the way teens and young adults are treated for cancer. It is our hope that new treatments will not only improve survival rates, but also improve quality of life, eliminating life-long, devastating side effects of chemotherapy and radiation. The Rutledge Foundation:

- Attended the first bi-annual International Ewing Sarcoma Symposium hosted by the Faris D. Virani Ewing Sarcoma Center at Texas Children's, Houston
- Co-Hosted with UNT Health Science Center a visit from the St. Jude Directors of the Solid Tumor Program, Drs Alberto Pappo and Michael Dyer
- Hosted Dr. Jason Yustein, Director of the Faris D. Virani Ewing Sarcoma Center at Texas Children's to give presentations on his Sarcoma Tissue Banking Program at Medical City Dallas, Mary Crowley Cancer Research Center and Cook Children's
- Coordinated collaboration between Dr. Andras Lacko of UNT Health Science Center and Mary Crowley Cancer Research Center to develop a targeted Ewing therapy using his nanoparticle delivery system
